

Exploring Non-Waveform Universes

In sound healing we start with the popular premise that in this universe everything is vibration. And yet, we know this universe is limited and thus our concept of what can exist is easily hindered by our imagination. In this paper I briefly explore the interrelationship between the dimension of vibration and existence beyond vibration.

The founders of quantum physics all insist that science neither proves nor disproves God. In his book, “Quantum Questions,” Ken Wilbur explores the mystical writings of the founders of quantum physics. He notes that many modern physicists believed it was impossible to understand the infinite through finite means. Instead they were mystics, believing that connection to the infinite was found through mysticism rather than science. Nassim Hamein offers yet another fresh perspective on the issue. In his “Crossing the Event Horizon” video series, Hamein resolves the seemingly paradoxical nature of quantum mechanics and general relativity by showing how the infinite and finite are interrelated. Hamein shows how in fact, a geometrical pattern of infinity can be created within a finite geometrical space, and how adding spin and rotation to Einstein’s theory of general relativity completes the equation. Along similar lines, how is the finite nature of sound related to the infinite? Is there a structure to the relationship between vibration and the Void? We can start by exploring the relationship between waveform universes of vibration and universes of stillness.

Diana Roth has discovered a way to explore non-waveform universes. On the website, Ascending Beyond Vibration, Diana states, “The Earth is in the process of evolving Her consciousness to the ascended universe above vibration and taking those that wish to go with her. This ascended universe is a place of completeness... of all knowing and those that ascend there know. It is a truly wondrous and beautiful place... There is no vibration, no sound, and no light...yet the knowing achieves a far greater level of vision that does not use the senses we are used to using on Earth. For example: you know the Deer is there and where it is, but you do not see it with vision nor hear its movements. You know its movements. You know everything. In this place, no one species is more important than another. There is total peace and center.”

What I find relevant to the field of sound therapy is the list of steps to arrive at the universe above vibration. Diana states that one has to change vibration in order to reach the place that is beyond vibration. Diana says that moving your soul beyond vibration requires releasing the mind-ego and the boxes we place ourselves within. She notes our belief that we need to “raise our vibration” is a misconception. High and low vibrations are not correlated with soul knowledge or soul awareness and that indeed the most advanced species vibrate at lower vibration. Diana states that the vibratory scale is circular like a clock and that humans normally vibrate at the 3 o’clock position. Beyond vibration occurs at 7 o’clock. So the distance for a human to reach beyond vibration is shorter if lowering vibration. In fact, she notes that going very high in vibration can create much static, confusion, and fear if unprepared for so many dimensions. Diana notes that changing vibration little by little is key, and that eventually it will feel as though one has stepped through the veil of vibration.

As sound healers, I believe that this information can be very useful in working with clients. We have learned that various frequencies have benefits, including low frequencies. In helping clients to lower their vibration little by little we can help them gradually come to lower their vibration to stillness and enter the ascended Earth beyond vibration.

ADDENDUM

Steps to Ascend Beyond Vibration

1. Make sure soul has ceased to vibrate and in a place where will not be interrupted
2. Place obsidian wrap around you and form intent to be neutral. Other beings are attracted to energy, positive and negative, so if you are neutral other beings looking for energy won't notice you. Practice doing this a lot before go anywhere.
3. You should be able to separate your soul from physical body. If you cannot do this stop here
4. Form the intent to go to the wall outside the entry to beyond vibration
5. Open a portal and go through. Spend time practicing opening a portal with neutral intent without a particular destination first. Once begin going through and see other beings always ask permission to interact with other beings.
6. You should see a wall, barrier, or tunnel that appears black at the bottom because light there does not vibrate
7. Step through the veil to beyond vibration
8. Sit there and allow yourself to get oriented
9. If you happen to emerge under water you will not drown
10. You will be aware of everything
11. There is not only an ascended Earth but also a Universe. You will just know every species and star living there

12. You will have the option to remain or return. If you choose to remain you will cease to exist on this Earth, leaving the physical body
13. The colors and stars are infinite and the colors will be astonishing
14. To return do the steps in reverse order, though you can't get trapped or feel fear there, so if you have fear about this work on this before you go
15. Form the intent to go to the wall, veil, tunnel where you came in
16. Step back through the veil into this universe
17. Form the intent return to earth to go back inside your body
18. Do not worry that your soul doesn't know where body is
19. When you return, lay or sit for a period of time so your soul completely comes back into body, or else can feel dizzy or disoriented
20. Keep a journal of what you experienced because memories fade when back in body and will be difficult to find words to explain it

Warnings: Do not attempt this if you have any fear or reservation about this process or if you have not successfully completed all previous steps, including bringing your soul to a state of non-vibration. Do not take drugs while doing this.
